

EXPOSING THE TRUTH ABOUT ANIMAL ABUSE

In our society, billions of animals are exploited every year to make food and clothes, and for research and entertainment. Most Americans don't know that animals imprisoned in factory farms, fur farms, research labs, and other secretive facilities live in a nightmarish reality from which their only escape is death. The severe overcrowding, painful mutilations, and cruel mistreatment these animals suffer remain hidden from the public and are rarely – if ever – shown on television.

Undercover TV is the exception to the media's rule, taking viewers behind the scenes of industries that abuse animals. Every week, Undercover TV airs video exposés filmed by daring investigators to show the animals' plight. See what the multi-billion dollar animal exploitation industries are trying to hide. Catch the next episode of Undercover TV!

Undercover TV host,
champion vegan bodybuilder
Kenneth G. Williams

Watch Undercover TV in San Francisco
Wednesdays at 10:00 p.m. on Channel 29

For more information, visit www.undercovertv.org